The officently into which the committee on appropriations had fallen arose from the fact that it felt it to be its bounden duty to reduce the appropriations for the army, and to reduce the army itself. The members of the minority had no desire to embarrass the action of the majority. They believed, however, that a force of twenty-five thousand men was as small as the needs of the country warranted. They were not disposed to make factious opposition to the action of the majority. They would, perhaps, test the sense of the house on one or two questions, but not further. Inspectors Andrews and Hanson, both Democrats, were very roughly handled, and received some painful injuries at the hands of the ruffians by being thrown from the buggy and other-wise maltreated. The object of this high-handed outrage was no doubt to get a cause of contest, as several of the roughs of the Independent persuasion had wagered as largely as they were able upon the complete success of their entire ticket, and, seeing their failure, they resorted to nefarious means to avoid payment, bets being made in Batesvill claiming five hundred majority. near Podgoritza. Paris, November 8.—The Soleil and other conservative journals discountenance the pro-ject of demanding a vote of confidence for the ministry in the senate. A committee of deputies of the right have been appointed to consider the project.

London, November 8.—A Russian official dispatch, dated Kuruk Darah, November 6th, says: "General Lazaroff yesterday occupied a position in front of the southeastern forts of Kars for the purpose of erecting seige-bat-teries. The Turks attacked him, supported by the fire from the forts. The Russians beat them back in disorder, and pursued them at the point of the bayonet into the fort, inflict ing great loss, and spiked the enemy's guns They also captured ten officers and forty men and then retreated with small loss.

At the close of nine hours fighting, on November 4th, at Deve-Boyun, the Turks fied in complete disorder, abandoning their camp, arms and provisions. Their losses are upknown.

The dispatch concludes: "We are now occupying the fortifications of Erzeroum, and pre The Porte has demanded the withdrawal of the Servian corps of observation from the frontier, under pain of vigorous military VERSAILLES, November 8.—The senate over fifteen thousand men. It should never be used to overawe the laboring men, for the people of that class would never be conquered left, and adjourned until Wednesday. The chamber of deputies has verified some of the always be on the side of the laboring men.

Mr. Sparks said the session had been called for the purpose of paying the just dues of the army, and the ball should therefore be promptly passed.

Without action the committee rose, and the house adjourned.

Without action the committee rose, and the house adjourned. tion, as it is regarded as the pivot of the sit uation. It is said now that the utmost the cabinet can expect from this party is their abstention from a hostile vote. The Moniteur announces that President MacMahon, at the cabinet council, this morning, expressed a firm resolution not to resign. He said for the present he consider ed it his duty to suspend all negotiations fo the formation of the cabinet until the de bates and attitude of the chamber of deputie shall furnish him a basis for action. The ministers thereupon withdrew their resigna tions, declaring they did not wish to impose themselves upon the marshal, but would sup-port him energetically as long as he required their services. Delegates of all the groups on the right waited upon the marshal to night to assure him that he might coun upon a majority in the senate for energeti defense of the country and society. Mar shal MacMahon replied: "Your declaration only proves that I was right to rely upon the support of the senate for a conservative policy, which is, as you know, the only polic I am able to follow.
